US Gives Russians A Plan

Lodge Tells All UN Soviet Must Give Up Seeking the Violent Overthrow of U. S.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States said today the only way Russia can win American friendship is to "give up seeking the violent overthrow of the United States."

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the U. N. 60-nation Political Committee the Soviet Union "admits it is plotting our destruction." He said this naturally caused a strong reaction among the American people and press. Lodge departed from the prepared text of a speech in which he urged the U. N. to junk each and every part of Russia's 1953-model peace plan to make his tough charges against the Soviet Union.

He said the reason the Russians are viewed with "something less than affection" in the United States is because of their self-admitted campaign to overthrow the American government and way of life.

Another reason, Lodge said, is Communist persecution of religion as exemplified in the recent arrest of Poland's Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski. He said "this has aroused religious people throughout the world."

The American delegate added, however, that the United States is "not discouraged." We still hope. We believe the day will come when this campaign from behind the Iron Curtain will cease. But, until it does, we can only recognize the facts.

As for the Russian peace proposals, Lodge said "The resolutions now on the books deal adequately with the subject. The only thing we still require is for the Soviet Union to quit disregarding them."

The Kremlin, through its Chief Delegate Andrei V. Vishinsky, has asked the U. N. to ban the atomic and hydrogen bombs unconditionally; cut the armed forces of the big powers by a flat one-third; forbid foreign bases in other countries; and condemn Western anti-Communist propaganda as warmongering.

These demands have been defeated, in one form or another, over and over in the Assembly and its committees. The Soviets have revised them each succeeding year.

Instead, the U. N. has adopted Western proposals for international control of nuclear weapons under stringent safeguards as the culmination of a disarmament program which would include cuts in the armed forces of the big powers. The Assembly has refused to get into the bases question and has condemned warmongering propaganda impartially without regard to its origin.

Lodge said Russian charges that the United States was responsible for present world tension were "obviously written by professional communist axe-grinders" and reminded him of the old proverb that the devil can quote scripture. "It is well to look at the record regarding this subject," Lodge declared.

He then detailed efforts of the United States and its Allies to reach agreement with Russia on the reunification of Germany and said the West had finally "reluctantly concluded that the Soviet Union did not want to enter into negotiations which might have positive results. Nevertheless, Lodge said, the West still leaves the door open."

As for propaganda, Lodge gave example after example of what he called Soviet moves in entertainment, schooling and newspapers to make the Russians hate the American people.

He said U. S. citizens were free to do anything they liked about Russia, but advised:

"The past 10 years have aroused the fears of many Americans that Soviet imperialism endangers their safety and their way of life. It is only natural that most Americans and the bulk of the press should view the Soviet Union with something less than affection, given the fact that it is plotting our destruction."

No Character Assassination from the Rear Without an Outraged Citizenry, Says Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, starting a Thanksgiving holiday today, says no one can "assassinate our character from behind without suffering the penalties an outraged citizenry will impose."

That was the code of the Old West where he grew up and it is a code Americans still cherish, the President declared last night in accepting the B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League's annual Democratic Legacy Award.

Eisenhower arranged to leave by plane today for Augusta, Ga., for a vacation of golf and a Thanksgiving Day turkey dinner with his family.

He will return to Washington Sunday.

The Eisenhowers scheduled a stop en route at Ft. Benning, Ga., to pick up their daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Eisenhower, and their three grandchildren. Their son, an Army major stationed at Ft. Benning, will join the family at the Augusta National Golf Club later in the week.

A new white brick cottage—situated near the club's 10th tee—was ready for the Eisenhowers.

Delay Hearing Into Fatal Auto Accident

Await Witnesses Now In Hospital Suffering Injuries

The inquest into the death of Mrs. Jessie Belle Coulter, 55, 810 South Marvin, who was fatally injured in a head-on collision of two automobiles early Sunday morning, has been continued by Dr. C. Gordon Stauffer. The hearing will be resumed as soon as the principal witnesses involved in the accident are able to testify.

Mrs. Betty Bee Rothenberger, 21, driver of the car in which Mrs. Coulter was riding, is in the Bothwell Hospital suffering severe injuries received in the accident, as is her sister, Miss Linda Lee Bradley, 16, who was in the car. The other witness is James Arthur Heard, 66, Windsor, driver of the other car, who is receiving treatment at Windsor and was unable to appear.

Dr. Stauffer reported until these witnesses, and Darrelyn Lutjen, of Cole Camp, who is out of the state on business, are able to appear, the inquest hearing will be continued. The hearing date will be set later.

The coroners jury, composed of A. J. Snow, J. M. Blue, A. R. Trueblood, R. E. Ransom, A. P. Beazley and R. W. Oman, viewed the body at the Gillespie Funeral Home Tuesday morning and heard four witnesses.

Dr. John Lamy, who examined Mrs. Coulter's body at the Bothwell Hospital and pronounced her dead, was the first to appear. Dr. Lamy told of the injuries which were believed to have caused her death.

Trooper Earl Gregory, State Highway Patrol, testified as to the positions of the two automobiles involved and his investigation of the accident.

Dale and Francis Norfleet, Hughesville, testified they had been in the Warsaw Invitational Basketball Tournament, where the Hughesville High School had played ball, and of seeing Mrs. Coulter, her niece, Mrs. Rothenberger and Miss Linda Lee Bradley, at the game. They also testified they were about a quarter of a mile behind the Rothenberger car when the mishap occurred.

According to their testimony, they caught up with the Rothenberger car at the Cole Camp Junction and were following behind. They indicated her speed was about 60 miles per hour. They said they saw the car ahead and missed seeing the actual crash when their car went down into a dip of the road, blocking their vision ahead for a few seconds and it was at this point when the crash occurred. They came upon the cars immediately afterwards.

Darrelyn Lutjen, Cole Camp, another witness, had gone to Iowa and was not here for the hearing, but will testify at a later date. Lutjen had reported to the State Patrol that Heard was passing his car when the accident occurred.

Christmas Lights Go On Friday Night

Friday night at 5 o'clock the Christmas lights will go on at the Chamber of Commerce office estimates that right now there are approximately 100 firms decorated in the downtown section and in other business sections.

Some have lights outlining the building, some have lights forming designs, double rows across the building, or festooned. There are large Christmas tree ornaments, there is evergreen roping with lights and evergreen wreaths, there are Christmas trees all decorated, there are Christmas candles and the Court House will be a gorgeous sight.

At 5 o'clock Friday night in Sedalia the lights go on and the stores will be open until 9 for those who are really in the spirit of it all and want to do their Christmas shopping early.

It was built by fellow club members for the President's use. Last night at the Mayflower Hotel the President received a standing ovation when Henry E. Schultz, chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, a Jewish service organization, handed him the League's silver medalion award.

Schultz praised Eisenhower for "leadership in the great crusade to bring about the elimination of Nazi tyranny . . . for your vigorous campaign to eliminate racial segregation in the armed forces; for your efforts to end undemocratic patterns of racial discrimination in Washington, our capital city."

But most of all, said Schultz, "we honor you for your continuing leadership of the free world."

Eisenhower replied in an informal, televised address that he had been briefed at length by his staff on civil liberties and the league's role in standing up for them. But he said he wasn't going to talk to the league members "about something of which they know a lot more than I do."

Then he noted he was reared "in the West" in Abilene, Kan.

"We had as our marshal for a long time a man named Wild Bill Hickock," he said. "If you don't know anything about him, read your Westerns more."

"Now that town had a code, and I was raised as a boy to prize that code."

"It was: meet anyone face to face with whom you disagree. You could not sneak up on him from behind or do any damage to him without suffering the penalty of an outraged citizenry. If you met face to face and took the same risks; he did, you could get away with almost anything, as long as the bullet was in the front."

That touched off a round of laughter, and then the President said:

"And today . . . you live after all by the same code . . ."

"In this country, if someone dislikes or accuses you, he must come up in front. He cannot hide behind the shadow. He cannot assassinate you or your character from behind, without suffering the penalties an outraged citizenry will impose."

If Eisenhower had any individuals in mind in talking about such penalties, he named no names.

Meanwhile, Allied and Red negotiators meeting nearby on arrangements for a Korean peace conference discussed sites, but got nowhere again.

The first official indication that the UNC is about ready to start interviewing the reluctant POWs came with the release of two letters to the repatriation commission and one reply.

The Allies have little time left—the 90-day interview period is scheduled to end Dec. 23.

There were unofficial indications that the UNC also is working behind the scenes to smooth out all preparations before the explanations begin—presumably to avoid the hysterical scenes which greeted Communist efforts to get their former soldiers to come back.

In a letter to the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission dated Nov. 16, the UNC asked the commission to confirm its belief the Allies would be allowed to send five South Koreans, five Americans and five British explainers to the explanation site simultaneously.

The U. N. based its case on this reasoning:

1. The armistice agreement gives the "nation to which the POW belongs" the right to send explainers.

2. The rules say the number of "such" explainers shall be not less than five nor more than seven per 1,000 POWs.

3. Prisoners belong to individual nations—the Republic of Korea, the United States and Great Britain—and not to the United Nations as a military command.

4. Only representatives of the individual nations can be explainers.

In a letter dated Nov. 23, the commission turned down the U. N. request, but the Allies renewed it today, explaining their reasoning.

The commission said the UNC is entitled to explainers at the rate of not less than five nor more than seven per 1,000 POWs, regardless of nationality.

The Communists today formally demanded return of three North Korean security guards who sought refuge on the U. N. side last Sunday and are still in U. N. custody.

The guards contend they were former South Korean soldiers who had been impressed into the North Korean army after they were captured.

The little youngsters are thankful for Thanksgiving because they get all the turkey they want; they are thankful because it is the birthday of the Pilgrims landing in their country which doesn't mean very much to them except—they could have a birthday party, and they did.

The dinner was just about finished, that is all but dessert, which was pumpkin pie. Most of the children were eager for their serving, but one little boy with almost red hair shook his head.

"What?" he was asked. "No pie? Don't you like pie?"

"I like mince pie," he said, and since the pie was not mince he just didn't want it at all. His Thanksgiving dinner called for an ending with mince pie, not pumpkin.

"Well, it wasn't just the youngsters who were having Thanksgiving dinner Monday. They had to hurry and get theirs over so their mommies could come in and be served quickly during the 12 to 1 lunch hour.

The tables were all set for the mothers, with flower arrangements in the center of the tables and little yellow baskets filled with candy.

They were going to have turkey and all the trimmings and probably thought it was mighty good, but they certainly couldn't have liked the turkey as well as the youngsters. Of course they had cranberry sauce and slaw that the little tots didn't have because they didn't want it. They just ignore the slaw, the cranberries and certainly the dressing.

In addition to the donation of turkeys, the nursery received a nice gift of food from the Beth El Sisterhood, consisting of cabbage, celery, beans, 10 pounds of sugar and flour, and Circle 4 of the First Christian Church gave two gallons of canned corn.

The little youngsters are thankful for Thanksgiving because they get all the turkey they want; they are thankful because it is the birthday of the Pilgrims landing in their country which doesn't mean very much to them except—they could have a birthday party, and they did.

They hands shot up all over the room, each with from two to five fingers waving in the air and little voices saying over and over "I'm this old."

"I've got my birthday," sang out one, and another one chirped in with "I've torn up my birthday."

Well, they were having a party and since parties mean birthdays to the little folks, Thanksgiving was just another birthday but they didn't know whose—In fact it doesn't make much difference just as long as there is a party.

There were Thanksgiving decorations all over the room: turkeys, pumpkins, and yellow crepe paper on the walls and curtains. It had a very festive look and there were little paper turkeys for each child, too.

US Hopes To Win PWs Back

Making Final Preparations Now To Get Remaining Reluctant Prisoners

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Allies revealed today they are making final preparations for efforts to win back 22 Americans, 1 Briton and 328 South Koreans who have refused to come home.

The U. N. Command disclosed it has been starting for two weeks with the Korean war prisoner repatriation commission over how many Allied interviewers will be permitted to talk with the prisoners.

The Allies have requested a total of 15-5 Americans, 5 Britons and 5 South Koreans.

The commission has set a limit of five.

Meanwhile, Allied and Red negotiators meeting nearby on arrangements for a Korean peace conference discussed sites, but got nowhere again.

St. Louis Police Chief Will Question Hall and Mrs. Heady

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connell, St. Louis will get one last chance to quiz Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Heady about the missing ransom money in the Greenlease kidnapping case.

Thomas E. Whitecotton, state director of corrections, told newsmen today the St. Louis chief of police would be granted permission for the death row interview. But he did not know when it would be held.

The kidnap killers die in the gas chamber at the State Penitentiary Dec. 18, a week before Christmas.

They were brought to the prison last Friday night and disappeared into death row behind a tight federal security clamp.

William B. Tatman, acting U. S. marshal, conferred with Whitecotton this morning and arranged to see Hall and Mrs. Heady later today. Tatman described his visit as routine, to complete detailed arrangements for the double execution. Eidson will trip the lever which sends deadly gas fumes curling around the faces of the killers.

With Tatman was his wife and E. J. Lloyd of Springfield, Mo., associate warden at the U. S. Medical center there. Whitecotton said the Federal Bureau of Prisons man was sent here at the request of state officials to instruct the prison guards and officials on federal rules and procedure.

Tatman told reporters he already has received about 5,000 applications to witness the execution. He has to designate five "respectable citizens" as the official witnesses.

Under federal rules, he said relatives of the condemned pair may claim any requests for them. State prisoners whose bodies are not claimed are buried in the prison cemetery.

Mrs. Heady Tells of Regret For Her Crime

Greenlease Declines To Make Comment On Her Message

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, sentenced to die Dec. 18 for her part in the kidnap-murder of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease, has written a letter to the boy's parents, expressing her regret for the deed.

A copy of the letter, which was mailed Sunday in Kansas City by the United States marshal, was sent to Mrs. Heady's attorney, Harold Hull of Maryville, Mo. Hull released the copy today.

Robert C. Greenlease, the father, acknowledged that he had read the letter but he declined to comment on it. Last week he received a communication from the other partner in the crime, Carl Austin Hall. Greenlease yesterday said Hall had asked forgiveness for his actions.

Mrs. Heady's letter:

"Mr. and Mrs. Greenlease, I doubt if this letter will do much good, but there isn't anything we could do or say that would atone for our mistake. I do hope it helps a little."

"I would give anything if I could go back to that Sunday in September and erase everything that has happened since. It all seems like a nightmare to me."

"We have always known that we would have to pay, but that doesn't return Bobby, but if it gives you satisfaction then we won't be giving our lives in vain."

"I don't say I don't enjoy money, as everyone does, but that was not my motive. I could have been very, very happy with Carl living in my house as I had been, but he had been used to more money."

His case was loving not wisely, but too well. I wanted so much for him to be happy."

"I never realize that Bobby would be such a sweet child until it was too late."

"I am not trying in any way to make an excuse for my actions, as I don't have any, but I think anyone will find if you drink from one to two-fifths of whisky a day, doesn't function properly."

Since I have been in jail is the first time I've been able to reason clearly for some time."

"I would like for the sisters to know I am sorry too, as theirs is a wonderful faith."

"I hope as time goes on it will help heal your hurt and that you find peace."

The letter was signed "Yours Truly, Bonnie Heady."

Hull said he understood Mrs. Heady wrote the letter after being taken to the prison from the Jackson County jail and gave it to William Tatman, the marshal, to post.

Mrs. Heady's reference to "the sisters" was taken to mean the teachers at the French Institute of Notre Dame de Sion—the school from which she spirited Bobby away the morning of Sept. 28.

The reference to that Sunday in September presumably referred to the day before the actual kidnapping when Hall and his accomplice perfected their plans to abduct the boy, kill him and bury him in a pre-dug grave in the rear yard of Mrs. Heady's house in St. Joseph, Mo.

Mrs. Ellis Speaks at Sorosis On 'The Enrichment of Life'

The enrichment of life, Mrs. Caroline Ellis, KMBC broadcaster, told Sorosis members, Monday afternoon at the Heard Memorial Club House, comes from the simple things and the imagination from childhood.

Something has gone wrong with the world, Mrs. Ellis said, and people have drifted away from religion. Perhaps they are right, the speaker said, religion is something of the mind, the soul and the spirit and not just going to church on Sunday. It is good for people to acknowledge their belief in God, good to acknowledge their gratitude.

This inner feeling, said Mrs. Ellis, cannot be totally acquired in adulthood. It is woven by mothers and other adults into the lives of little children; the mother who takes her baby to the window to match the rain drops chasing each other down the window pane, the mother who holds her baby as the wind blows and says softly, "Listen, darling, to the wind. It is talking to you."

These are the things, the speaker said, the beauty of nature, the little bugs, the animals of the woods, the fairies, the belief in Santa Claus, all the little treasures gathered in the early years, the make believe that is so dear to childhood, have a definite influence on the later years which bring with them the enrichment of life.

Mrs. Ellis told of the trend a few years ago of not letting children believe in the things that children had always believed in when they were little; the stork, the fairies riding the broom, the witches everywhere, Santa Claus, children must not be misled, they must be told the truth about everything; it was bad for them to believe in imaginary characters because the shock was so great when they found out. "Who among you," asked Mrs. Ellis, "ever suffered from shock. That was a natural adjustment of life."

She felt sorry for those children who were deprived of the real beauties of childhood, the children who grew up with the facts instead of fancies, Mrs. Ellis said.

She warned against planting prejudice in the mind of the child, and fear. These things, she said.

Chicken Dinner Served To KJL Sunday School

A fried chicken dinner was served to about 25 members of the KJL Sunday School Class of the LaMonte Christian Church at the home of Mrs. Virgil Fisher.

After the noon meal a short business meeting was held.

Mrs. Frank Chaney gave the devotional.

Officers for 1954 were installed by Mrs. Roy Alexander as follows: Mrs. John Little, president; Mrs. Lettie Williams, vice-president; Mrs. Edna Martin, secretary; Mrs. Floyd Ripley, treasurer. Mrs. Lettie Williams was unable to be present for the installation.

The Rev. Norval Tolle gave a prayer for the success of the new officers.

A blind auction was held and netted around $21.

The next meeting will be Dec. 16, and each member will contribute a part of the program.

grow on people. Instead, she urged, develop in them from the cradle the love of all living creatures, trees, flowers and help them to find the beauty of life on every side.

Mrs. Ellis does not believe that children should be brought up with stories such as murder mysteries, divorce, unhappy homes, all these things that they may hear on the radio, TV or shows, but let them have their own programs which are set aside for them alone, something that will leave a good influence, not a bad one, on their lives. Today, she said, there are so many things in this machine age, so don't hold them back, but add to this scientific law, the beautiful things of life, the wonderment of imagination, and the joys of nature.

Mothers today will say: "I don't want my child to do those things, but all of the other children do and I just hate to deprive them of doing them, too."

That, said Mrs. Ellis, is a poor excuse. "Who," she asks, "is rearing your child? Your neighbors, TV, or you?" She believes that it is time parents take interest enough in their children to give them the things that will make them happy people in later life, not bored, dissatisfied people who do not know how to entertain themselves, who do not know how to find the joy of the simple things of life.

Feed the imagination, she said, and you feed your soul. The love of simple things is the key to inner riches.

Mrs. Ellis was introduced by Mrs. William Reed, art and drama chairman.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. A. J. Campbell, president. Mrs. L. Archibald Jr. announced that the program next week will be "Behind the Show" experiences of living with a Japanese family by Miss Frances Cassard, lecturer of New York City, N. Y. There will be no luncheon.

Youths Find Many Tales On Bookmobile

Boys and Girls are finding all types of new books on the bookmobile and in the Sedalia and Booneville headquarters of the new Booneville Regional Library.

Books on spies and pirates, on space travel and bugs, on amazing animals and volcanoes. Biographies of all sorts are available in both easy reading and more difficult books. Lovely picture biographies of Benjamin Franklin, Pocahontas, and Buffalo Bill entertain the third and fourth graders while older boys and girls may read about Florence Nightingale and Thomas Jefferson.

Now that the bookmobile has started making its rounds the schools are expecting to work toward reading circle certificates. To do this children must read a certain number of fiction, history, science and fine arts books, depending on the grade he is in. And when the proper number of books of the correct level for his grade are read, the County Superintendent of Schools will issue the child a reading circle certificate. Almost any boy or girl in the area should be able to get one of these coveted certificates by the end of the school year.

When the schedule is finally completed on Dec. 7 all outlying schools in the area and every community wishing to have a bookmobile stop will be able to have one. The other services of the library will be provided just as soon as possible but it does take time to order and process materials as well as to provide proper means for their circulation and use. The Bell and Howell projector has arrived and Miss Nisten-dirk states that some film are available. A list will be ready for distribution just as soon as film schedules are ready.

No Early Report Seen In Check On Missing Greenlease Money

ST. LOUIS (AP)—I. A. Long, president of the St. Louis Police Board, indicated last night that no early report was likely on the board's inquiry into the missing $300,000 Greenlease ransom money.

Scores of witnesses, including the arresting officers, Patrolman Elmer Dolan and resigned Lt. Louis Shoulters, have been questioned by police officials.

The investigation, ordered Oct. 18, was to consider alleged "discrepancies" in police reports on the arrest of condemned kidnapper Carl Austin Hall and recovery of half the ransom.

Long said he would "not want to make a guess" as to when the inquiry will be completed and the promised public statement issued.

"We have a voluminous amount of material to do some work on and try to co-ordinate," Long said. "We also may have some additional witnesses."

Hall and his partner in crime, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady will be executed in the Missouri State Penitentiary at Jefferson City Dec. 18 for the kidnapping of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease.

Archives Ball and Coronation Of Queen Wednesday Night

By Norman Griswold
The Archives Ball, Smith-Cotton's first formal dance of this school year, will be held Wednesday night in the school cafeteria. It will begin at 9 p. m.

The feature of the evening will be the crowning of Miss Nancy Ann Vaughan as Archives Queen by Kerry Gentry, editor of the annual. The queen's attendants will be Mary Peters and Nancy Lester.

Each couple present is asked to wear a mum as a corsage and a boutonniere.

Admission to this affair will be the receipt for the purchase of a 1954 annual, or one dollar per couple.

Smith-Cotton alumni are cordially invited to attend.

The Smith-Cotton varsity debaters participated in the annual debate clinic held at Columbia Saturday.

The program began with the introducing of this year's debate question which is "Resolved: That the President of the United States should be elected by the direct vote of the people."

A panel discussion conducted by four faculty members of the University of Missouri was held on this question. Following the discussion, Bower Aly, a noted speaker, gave a talk on debate.

The University of Kansas met the University of Missouri in a non-decision debate and then everyone adjourned for lunch.

The clinic resumed with two rounds of non-decision debates.

Those attending from Sedalia were: Maurine Hoffman, Valgene Hayworth, Larry Lingle, Jack Is-

Drake At Harrisonville
Forrest L. Drake, principal of SCHS, journeyed to Harrisonville Monday afternoon to attend a banquet sponsored by the Quarterback Club of that city.

The banquet was in honor of Harrisonville's 1923 football team along with city's present high school champions. Mr. Drake was formerly a member of the Harrisonville faculty and was coach of the 1923 grid team.

The speaker for the occasion was Chauncey Simpson, a coach at the University of Missouri.

Lawyer Visits Hall In Death Row Cell

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Roy K. Dietrich of Kansas City, court appointed attorney for doomed Carl Austin Hall, visited the kidnapper in his death row cell at Missouri Penitentiary today.

He was recognized by newsmen who have kept a close watch on the prison since Hall and his ex-mistress and partner in crime, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, were brought to the prison last Friday.

But otherwise the heavy security clamp on Hall and Mrs. Heady, imposed by Acting U. S. Marshal William B. Tatman, appeared to be holding.

Apparently no visitors came to the prison today to talk with Mrs. Heady. She and Hall, convicted last Thursday in federal court for the kidnapping murder of little Bobby Greenlease, are scheduled to die in Missouri's lethal gas chamber early on Friday, Dec. 18.

Hughesville Bethel Church Homecoming Next Sunday Evening

On Sunday evening, Nov. 29, there will be a home coming at the Hughesville Bethel Church which, was dedicated 40 years ago this month. There was a membership of 33 in the congregation at that time and the services for that day were conducted by the Rev. W. D. Smith, who was then district superintendent.

Today there is a membership of 54 and the present pastor is the Rev. W. J. Cox, who lives in Houstonia. Dresden, Houstonia and Bethel make up the Houstonia circuit which the Rev. Mr. Cox serves.

The church has an active Woman's Society of Christian Service and also a large Youth Fellowship.

Next Sunday will be an observance of the dedication at the church, starting with a fellowship supper at 6 p. m., with old and new members, friends, former ministers and members who have moved to other places, expected to be there for the event that marks the 40 years of religious services in the same building.

The Rev. E. W. Bartley, district superintendent of Methodist Churches, will be present and have charge of the evening program.

Thanksgiving Assembly Set; Open House Draws Big Crowd

By Barbara Lamy

At the Thanksgiving assembly to be held Wednesday afternoon, the Sacred Heart sophomores will present a serious skit entitled "A Modern Thanksgiving".

The playlet, which brings out the true meaning of Thanksgiving found by an American family, will have the following cast: father, Donald Dunlap; mother, JoAnn Horst; Rob, Dorsey Martin; Hugh, Wendel McKee; the radio announcer Jimmy Joe Rouchka; and Janet, Jo Ann Sedlak. Frances Bennett is the chairman of the assembly.

Large crowds turned out for the big open house at Sacred Heart School Sunday afternoon. All the colorful posters, the neat papers, the many projects, and especially the wonderful science fair in the laboratory with its intriguing experiments, insect mountings and books, and scientific drawings, made the open house immensely interesting.

Tonight Sacred Heart will meet Cole Camp in the first basketball conference game of the season in the Cole Camp High School gym at 7:30 p. m.

One of the unique things about the station is the 40 by 25 foot section specially equipped for the handling of live fish. It is equipped with running water and has air lines for use in building up the oxygen supply in the shipping tanks. This section was built with particular reference to the operations of the Stoutland Minnow Hatchery, which ships goldfish all over the world.

$350,000 Fire In Springfield Livestock Yard

SPRINGFIELD (U) — Directors of the Union Livestock Yards here have estimated the loss from yesterday's big fire at $350,000. Insurance will cover the company's loss to about $150,000, while farmers who lost cattle in the fire-ravaged pens will be fully protected by insurance, explained Joe Shipman, a director.

Business was resumed today, with some of the sheep and hogs being used for cattle. It will take most of the winter to rebuild the burned-out section of the yards, the directors estimated. Shipman said the fire loss included five large barns full of precious hay that had been shipped from Oklahoma. He said the hay was privately-owned and was not obtained under the state drought-relief program.

He said he could not estimate the tonnage of the destroyed hay. Shipman said 125 head of mature cattle and 75 calves died in the fire, which struck at a time when the yards were crowded with 3,000 animals.

Cattle that were turned loose during the blaze were rounded up later by volunteer workers and stockyard employees.

The flames sent up towering clouds of black smoke that were seen 25 miles away. Five of the city's six fire companies fought the big blaze which showered sparks over part of the town.

The sixth fire company was kept on the jump answering other alarms and was unable to halt one fire which destroyed the Ozark Upholstery Shop.

A sixteen-year-old, Leslie F. Newell, who was scheduled to join the group, has been transferred to the board at Newport News, Va., and has already been inducted.

Highway Commission To Ask a Speed Law

BENTON, Mo. (U) — The chairman of the Missouri Highway Commission says the commission will recommend that the state adopt a new maximum speed law.

Harris D. Rodgers said yesterday the commission's recommendation will be made to Gov. Phil M. Donnelly before the next regular session of the state Legislature which opens in January 1955.

Rodgers' statement followed a recommendation by Assistant State Atty. Gen. Hugh P. Williamson that such a law was needed.

The state's law, with respect to speed, has not been changed since 1921 and provides that speeds must be "careful and prudent."

Rodgers said he believes a general maximum speed limit should apply where lower speed limits are not fixed by the state Highway Department. He said a 65-mile-an-hour limit would most nearly approach a desirable maximum speed.

THIS ISN'T THE PLACE—At a glance, this eight-point deer appears to be just another hunting trophy being carted home by a happy hunter. But this is just how Freddie Brown, Jr., of St. Ignace, Mich., found him. The animal, trying to cross the highway in the black of the night, crashed into, and ruined, the grille of Brown's automobile.

FINDLAY, Ohio (U) — Prof. Virgil Overholt was so startled when a pheasant came straight at him that he dropped his gun.

Agrees Japan Disarmament Was Mistake

WASHINGTON (U) — Secretary of State Dulles said today he agrees with Vice President Nixon's view that the disarming of Japan after World War II was "a mistake."

Dulles told a news conference the United States carried disarmament programs for both Japan and Germany rather far. He noted some of these disarmament projects have since been reversed because of the Communist threat.

That is the charge of American foreign policy at that time, Dulles said, quite naturally assumed the world was entering a period of lasting peace where disarmament might be possible.

Dulles made plain he, too, believed this at the time and noted that the San Francisco United Nations charter drafted in 1945 contained provisions calling for limitation of armaments.

Nixon, in labelling Japanese disarmament a mistake, said in speech at Tokyo Nov. 19 that "we misjudged the intentions of the Soviet leaders" after the war. He said that if it were not for the Communist threat, the world could live in peace.

Answering other foreign policy questions, Dulles also said: "The pact signed between Communist China and North Korea yesterday marked a further step in the joint partition of Korea between Russia and Red China."

Progress toward a five-power conference to settle the Trieste problem has been encouraging in the past week but no definitive plan has yet been agreed upon.

The State Department is studying the possibility of pushing ahead through diplomatic channels to negotiate with Russia an Austrian peace settlement now that the Soviets have refused to attend a formal conference on this problem. He said no new note has been sent yet, however.

Dodgers Name Wally Alston As New Manager

BROOKLYN (U) — Walter (Wally) Alston, manager of the Montreal Royals of the International League, was appointed manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers today.

Alston, 42, succeeds Chuck Dressen, who surprised the baseball world Oct. 14 by resigning shortly after he had piloted the Dodgers to a second National League pennant in a row. Dressen, who quit after the Brooklyn Club rejected his demand for a two or three year contract, now is manager and part owner of the Oakland Pacific League club.

The new Dodgers manager, a native of Hamilton, Ohio, played only one major league game during his career. That was at first base for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1936.

His 1933 Montreal team finished second to Rochester, but the Royals won the playoffs, then defeated the Kansas City Blues, four games to one, in the Little World Series.

The new contract was for one year, a Dodgers policy.

Alston, who won a pennant as manager of St. Paul in the American Association, went to Montreal in 1950. He has been in the Brooklyn farm system for eight and a half years.

Merry-Go-Round Bishop Oxnam Prays For Ike's Golf Score

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON—Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, the Methodist Church leader who was banned from speaking in Los Angeles leading auditorium, was received by President Eisenhower last week, during which the two men had a friendly conversation about golf.

The Bishop inquired whether the President had had a chance to play his regular Wednesday afternoon golf game, to which Ike replied:

"Yes, Bishop, and I want to thank you for your offer to pray for a better score for me."

"Well, did my prayers do any good?" inquired the Bishop.

"Frankly, on the first nine holes, no," said the President. "But on the second nine holes, the answer is definitely yes."

TVA For Near East

Eric Johnston, head of the motion picture industry, came back from the near East the other day to report to President Eisenhower on the toughest of all diplomatic jobs—building up long-range friendship between Israel and the Arab states.

Johnston was asked by Eisenhower to go to the near East as his special ambassador, officially to settle the question of Arab refugees, but actually to settle the broader and more basic problem of Arab-Israeli friendship.

What Johnston took with him was a comprehensive plan for impounding the river Jordan and using its waters for power and irrigation under a system similar to the Tennessee Valley. If this irrigation power plan could be put across, he told the Arabs and Israelis, the Jordan valley could be made to bloom like a rose, and permanent peace and prosperity would prevail in the Near East. Arab Refugees could be put to work on the project, thereby removing a difficult thorn in the side of Arab-Israeli relations.

At present Arab refugees, some 875,000 of them, live on the border of Israel, fed by the United Nations and costing American taxpayers about $60,000,000 this year. All day idle refugees look across little white stone markers which designate the border and watch the new-found prosperity of Israel, some of it on farms they once owned. At night they frequently cross the border to steal sheep or goats.

When they do, the Israelis raid back, and under the old eye-for-an-eye and tooth-for-a-tooth doctrine, men are killed almost every night. Twenty were killed, Johnston reported to the White House, just during his brief stay in the Near East.

Johnston Guarded

Johnston reported that at first he was met with hostility from both sides. The Arab press claimed his mother and father were Jewish, that he had changed his name. The Israeli press published a cartoon of Johnston with a big knife seeking to carve up Israel. He was warned his life was in danger. Both sides guarded him day and night.

However, the TVA plan for developing the Jordan river aroused definite interest. Drawn up by Charles T. Main of Charlotte, N. C., under the auspices of TVA authorities, it calls for the cooperation of Israel with three Arab states—Lebanon, Syria and Jordan.

The waters of the Jordan are to be impounded largely in Lebanon, with another dam at Lake Tibzias. From these two reservoirs, irrigation ditches would lead off into Syria, Israel, and along the Jordan river. But since the river runs through four countries, the cooperation of all four is absolutely necessary.

By the same token, Johnston argued, cooperation on this Jordan valley authority would lay the cornerstone for badly needed peace.

Johnston Talks Turkey

"The American people have been spending $150,000,000 a year on this area," Johnston told Arab Prime Minister Fawzi Mulqui of Jordan. "And they're not going to do it much longer. If you don't go along with this project, you'll find yourself handling these refugees at a cost of $60,000,000 a year."

"That's your problem," replied the prime minister. "You've supported Israel which is responsible for making these refugees homeless."

"No, it's not our problem," countered Johnston. "On the contrary, it was you Arabs who refused to obey an order to stop fighting, thereby opening yourselves up to Israeli retaliation."

"Don't make any mistake about future money from the United States," Johnston continued. "The carpenter in Keokuk or the farmer near Omaha isn't interested in Arab refugees. And he isn't going to continue paying for them much longer."

"On the other hand, if you put across this Jordan Valley project, it will not only bloom as never before, but every refugee can be put to work."

Johnston reported to Eisenhower that he hoped he had opened the door just a crack in Jordan, and just a crack in Israel. Bitterness over recent border incidents is intense. Both countries are a long way from being convinced. In Lebanon and Syria there is a little more open-mindedness, and he hopes to get more favorable reactions when he goes back in February.

Benson Sweepstake

Wisconsin Democrats have launched a "contest" to guess the date on which Agriculture Secretary Benson will resign.

It's a straight political gimmick, of course, but it's catching on like wildfire throughout the state.

"Every person who comes within one week of the correct date will receive one pound of dried buttermilk powder," says the Democratic announcement. "Those who guess the exact date will receive gold-embossed, calf-leather-bound copies of Benson's plan for saving the farmer, as soon as it comes out."

Manners Make Friends—

It's possible to overdo your deference to those who are older than you are. For instance, no woman of 40 wants a girl in her twenties to jump up and give her a seat, answer her questions with "Yes ma'am" and in other such ways make her feel 80 instead of 40.

In such cases it is more gracious to ignore a difference in ages than to emphasize it.

Avoiding Contacts Is Best Preventive For Common Cold

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Millions of dollars are spent every year for remedies aimed at curing or warding off that miserable affliction known as the common cold. Nose drops, vitamins, and drugs of many varieties are purchased by the thousands, and nearly every one of us has a favorite cure.

The fact that so many remedies are on the market is the best reason to say that nothing is much good in warding off or curing this vicious ailment.

The time may come when something better will be available, but the fact that nearly every year some new wonder cure is announced indicates that we should view new remedies with skepticism.

Does this mean that nothing at all can be done about the common cold? In this matter we are our brother's keeper. Most colds develop after contact with someone who already has one.

The most important safety measure is to avoid exposure to those who already have colds, especially when a cold is just starting.

Public places, streetcars and moving-picture theaters, almost always have one or two people in them who are coming down with or recovering from a cold. If we kept out of these places when colds were frequent there would almost certainly be fewer attacks. But the person who has a cold could help most by not exposing others needlessly.

Word About Drafts

Although most colds seem to be definitely spread by contact, a word must be said about the traditional risk of catching cold following chilling, drafts, or wet feet. Probably the reason is some temporary drop in resistance.

If a cold does start the safest thing to do is to go to bed at once and stay there until the symptoms are gone.

Newsman Pick Governors

Another poll to pick the five best state governors in the U. S. named three on the retiring list for top places. No. 1 was Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York. No. 2 was ex-Gov. Earl Warren of California, now Chief Justice of the United States. No. 3 was Gov. Alfred Driscoll of New Jersey. All are Republicans.

Governors Allan Shivers of Texas and Frank Lausche of Ohio placed fourth and fifth. Governors James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan tied for sixth. The last four are Democrats.

The five worst governors were voted to be John S. Pine of Pennsylvania, Herman Talmadge of Georgia, Charles Russell of Nevada, Edwin L. Mechem of New Mexico and Edward F. Arn of Kansas.

Nixon For President?

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The forthcoming effort to build up Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the logical successor to President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956 would seem to have historical precedents against its success.

Only three U. S. Vice Presidents have succeeded to the presidency by direct election and all of them were in the early years of the Republic. John Adams succeeded George Washington. Thomas Jefferson succeeded John Adams. Martin Van Buren succeeded Andrew Jackson.

In the six other instances in which Vice Presidents have stepped into the Chief Executive's job, they have done so on the death of the President.

Won't Block Masons

Reports that the Spanish government would screen all Americans assigned to American military assistance programs in Spain to keep out all are denied at the State Department.

Though the U. S. government follows the usual diplomatic courtesy of notifying the Spanish government of all American personnel assigned to aid missions, thus far there have been no objections to any of these appointments and no questions raised as to possible Masonic affiliations.

Freemasonry is regarded as a political movement in most of Europe, and so as such it is considered as opposition to Franco's party.

Hail Pipe Smokers

Pipe and Tobacco Council is running a poll to select the ten most-distinguished pipe smokers. Many of the nominees are Washington characters, including Cyrus Ching, who has a big, curved-stem pipe in his mouth practically every waking minute that he isn't eating or washing his face.

Another continuous pipe smoker is Uncle Billy Leiserson, former railway labor mediator, but he smokes mostly matches. He lights up, takes one puff and lights up again.

Other Washington pipe smokers of note are J. Edgar Hoover, Allen Dulles of Central Intelligence, Senators Herbert Lehman of New York and Willis Robertson of Virginia.

Didn't Nail Tito

The big hassle over Trieste, brought on by the American-British announcement to give Zone A to the Italians and Zone B to Yugoslavia, was in part due to bad British intelligence.

The British apparently thought they had an understanding with Marshall Tito that this split would be satisfactory, after he made perfunctory objections. The Yugoslavs didn't exactly double-cross on this deal. They just hadn't been nailed down tight enough in advance.

Odds and Ends

Among the more recent inventions on which U. S. patents have been granted are:

An artificial leg with hydraulic shock absorbers for easier walking.

A machine which automatically slits and cleans poultry gizzards.

'About Face!—What Else?'

The World Today— Avoiding the Fifth Amendment

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON—Atty. Gen. Brownell obviously hopes that by getting around the Fifth Amendment the government will have better luck unmasking Communists and prosecuting alleged Soviet spies.

He's asking Congress for a law promising some witnesses in certain cases they will never be prosecuted in federal court for any federal crime they confess to congressional committees or grand juries.

This is his attempt to make witnesses talk, whether they want to or not. For, once promised immunity against prosecution under Brownell's proposal, they could be jailed for contempt if they still refused to open up.

The plan would work, of course, only with witnesses who thought silence—at the price of jail for contempt—was too expensive. It couldn't budge a man who preferred jail to talking.

And even though a witness was promised immunity from trial in federal court for a federal crime, if in his testimony he admitted violating a state law he could later be prosecuted in a state court.

This is the background: The government and congressional committees have been stymied in their efforts to dig into communism and alleged spy rings by a parade of men and women

THE ANGELS FELL

THE STORY: Martha Paley, operator of a trucking firm for which Paul Flagg is manager, brings Paul Flagg to manager, Maudson to act as Paul's lawyer when he is questioned in the murder of District Attorney Ernest Larkin. Paul knows that Larkin's wife, also Paul's ex-wife, is deeply involved and Paul is not telling all he knows because he wants to protect her for the sake of his small son Joey.

XIV
MAUDSON said: "There appear to be several things missing. For instance, the make and caliber of the weapon. What was the condition of the bullet?"

"Pretty much mashed by bone, but not so bad state police ballistics couldn't work with it. The slug came from a .38 caliber revolver."

That explained why there had been no ejected shells. Then Maudson was asking if I owned a gun.

"I knew Paul had a gun," Ernie said. "He registered the number with me last year when we made a drive to have all military guns in civilian hands registered. I found it in his closet, a .45 caliber automatic. By that time I knew it couldn't have done the job, so I left it there."

"Did you expect him to own two guns?"

"I see what you mean," Ernie said. "A man would be inclined to use the gun at hand, his own gun, if he shot somebody without preparation. But we don't know there wasn't another gun he could use. Or Larkin came with a gun and Paul took it away from him. Or Mrs. Larkin had one." He jotted his jaw.

"Anyway, I'm not the one who definitely accused Paul of being the killer. All I say is it looks like he or Mrs. Larkin or both did it."

Maudson's slowly shifting gaze came to rest on the stenographer seated on the other side of the open door. "We come to the transcript of what was said here before I arrived. That stuff about my client having had several minutes without an alibi is cheese cake."

"We had to show opportunity," Randolph explained meekly. "You need concrete evidence to go along with it. What have you got? Actually only two points. First, the shots Mrs. Jones claimed she heard. How did she know they were shots?"

He addressed the question to Randolph, so Randolph had to answer. "Well, they sounded like shots to her."

"At the time she heard them or later when you asked her if she'd heard shots?"

"I can only repeat what Mrs. Jones told us. She said that at the time she heard two loud noises she thought there was a hunter nearby. That worried her because last fall a stray bullet had smashed her window."

"Two shots? What happened to the other bullet?"

Maudson was too entranced by his own cleverness to let that second bullet alone.

"Well," Randolph said, "we did find a spot on the wall of Flagg's living room that had been plastered up."

MAUDSON looked at me encouragingly, like a parent desiring a bright answer from an offspring. And I stated dutifully that a picture hook had made the hole. Maudson beamed.

"The second point is Mrs. Jones' statement that shortly thereafter she saw a car pass."

Ernie picked up a pencil and rolled it between his hands. He studied it. "The kitchen is in the back part of the house. She was there before the shots. The radio was on, which was why she didn't hear the cars coming. Then, she says, when the program was over at 5:15, she went into the living room and then she saw the car pass."

I said: "I don't think I even need a lawyer. You've got nothing because Mrs. Jones didn't identify me or my car at that time, and you know it."

"Did she identify his car?" Maudson demanded in his soft, pleasant voice.

Ernie put down the pencil. He tilted back in his chair. "Okay, Randolph, you wanted to do all the talking before. Do some now."

Randolph didn't quite squirm. "Well, Mrs. Jones wasn't sure. She's an old woman and her eyes aren't too good."

Maudson chuckled. "Paul, how many times a day do you drive by her house?"

"At least twice. My car and Mrs. Gallagher's are the only ones that pass regularly because her house is next to the last on the road."

"Exactly," Maudson moved closer to Randolph. "In short, Mrs. Jones would be able to recognize my client's car."

ABRUPTLY Russ Handy stood up. He made a noise in his throat.

Slowly Maudson turned his handsome head. "Did you say something?"

"Not a darn thing," he said. "Is there anything else?"

Maudson, big and white-haired and imposing, stepped to the center of the room.

"Just one thing, Paul," Ernie Watrous said. "Stick around town. A week-end starts tomorrow and I don't want you taking a trip."

I said: "I'm taking my son to a ball game in New York City tomorrow."

"Now, Paul," Maudson purred. "There's no sense throwing our weight around on small matters. The police are entitled to our cooperation."

Ernie had taken enough of a beating from the man who controlled his bread and butter, and his request wasn't unreasonable. I said, "All right," and pulled the door open.

Democrat Pick-Ups Odds and Ends By News Staff

Two girls were downtown shopping and went in to get something to eat before the one had to go to work at 5 p.m.

They were sitting in the drugstore, just starting to eat leisurely, when the one who had to go to work glanced at the clock and gasped.

"I didn't know it was that late," she said. "Why, I've only got 15 minutes to get to work!"

The other girl looked up at the clock and then at her watch. Too. That was right, just 15 minutes, so they practically swallowed the food on the plates without chewing at all, paid their check hurriedly and rushed out to the car that belonged to the girl who didn't have to go to work. She drove her friend to the hospital where she is a nurse's aid and then went home.

"What are you doing home so early?" her mother asked as she came in the front door. The girl went on to explain that they had been shopping and had no idea it was so late until they looked at the clock and how she had taken her friend to the hospital in such a hurry and then came home.

"But, it is only about 4 o'clock now," her mother told her. The girl looked at the clock, then her watch, and sure enough it was just about 4 o'clock.

Well, out at the hospital the little nurse's aid got into her uniform and just barely made it to her floor in time. She looked around and there wasn't a nurse or a nurse's aid who was on duty at the same time she was there. She thought that was strange and then she looked at the clock and her watch and found she was an hour early.

And now the two girls are wondering how both of them could have possibly been so wrong. They both had not only checked with the clock but double checked with their watches and still had been an hour off.

A little group of children stood around watching the brief shower while little Kathleen looked up at a nearby grownup and said: "We pray for rain, don't we?"

"Yes, we do," said the grownup, and instantly the tiniest boy in the group spoke up in the deepest voice he could get his little vocal chords to make. "I don't," he said bluntly.

Well, maybe the earth does need rain, but little Paul didn't. He wasn't going to waste his prayers on a lot of water. He could do without that water. When he prayed he was going to pray for something he wanted and it isn't rain.

Greek, Turk Stand Over Trieste Is?

ATHENS (AP)—What will Greece and Turkey do if Italy and Yugoslavia plunge into an all-out brawl over Trieste?

The question is a diplomatic brain twister. Here's why:

Greece and Turkey are partners with Yugoslavia in the Balkan defense alliance. They are also linked to Italy by NATO. Yugoslavia is not.

Early this year, Greek government circles spoke ambitiously of offering Greece's services as "mediator, if any dispute arose between Italy and Yugoslavia. When the chance came, Greece preferred not to intervene. Turkey is following suit.

The three member governments of the Balkan alliance are setting up a secretariat to pool common efforts against possible Red aggression. A military pact binding Greece, Yugoslavia and Turkey may be negotiated to implement the political agreement.

Nobody has ventured to say what the roles of Greece and Turkey would be in the event of an armed attack by Italy against Yugoslavia, or vice versa.

The Balkan friendship pact could turn into something mutually embarrassing.

Last winter when the three Balkan allies were negotiating the pact, Italy charged Yugoslavia planned to use the alliance against her. Official Italian government and church circles in Rome said Marshal Tito was getting allies together to strengthen his hand for the Trieste dispute and for his feud with the Roman Catholic Church.

Nevertheless, Greek Premier Alexander Papagos invited the Italians to enter the pact, an invitation renewed when former Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi visited Greece last January, a month before the pact was signed.

The Italians, however, are unwilling to make any binding agreements with the Yugoslavs until the Trieste and church issues are settled.

Is Given Life Term For Killing Wife, Her Father, His Sister

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A sentence of life imprisonment was given yesterday to a man convicted of killing his wife, her father and his own sister in a shooting spree after his reconciliation, plea was spurned.

Raymond J. Ross, 35, was found guilty of two counts of first degree and one of second degree after his case was submitted to Superior Judge Thomas L. Ambrose on the transcript of the preliminary hearing.

Fatally shot last Sept. 17 were his wife Mollie, 29; his father-in-law, Albert Miles, 46 and his sister, Nellie Hill, 45.

Ross told officers his wife had refused a reconciliation and his relatives had "interfered" in his marriage.

Two Men Rescue Deer From Illinois Canal

LOCKPORT, Ill. (AP)—When Robert Schwartz, 29, and Edward Hall, 45, on their way to work, spotted a deer swimming in the 60-foot-wide Illinois Waterway, they jumped into a rowboat and lassoed the animal.

They towed it to the docks of the Material Service Corp., where both work, borrowed an auto wreck truck and with its derrick lifted the 150-pound buck from the water.

A game warden took over later and said he probably would turn the deer loose in a state park. There is no legal hunting season for deer in Illinois.

Two Convicts Take Taxi to Freedom

They were identified as Billy Richard Hall, 18, and James Christian, 23.

May Change GI Education Payment Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Teague (D-Tex.) said today "dollars and cents pressure" on schools may force Congress next year to change the education provisions of the GI benefit law.

"I am convinced the taxpayer is getting a better break under the present law," Teague said in an interview, "but pressure for a change is building up."

The pressure, he said, is coming from private colleges and universities whose veterans enrollment is lagging and who feel an economic pinch.

He said Rep. Springer (R-Ill.) stands a good chance of winning sufficient support for passage of his bill to separate tuition fees from subsistence payments to Korea veterans eligible for college training.

Under a benefit law passed in 1952, veterans of the Korean War are paid lump sums to cover their subsistence and tuition fees. Previously, World War II veterans were paid subsistence funds, but tuition fees went directly to the school.

Springer made an unsuccessful effort to get the separate payment provision in the present law. He proposes that the schools get $30 a month for each veteran enrolled and attending classes.

But Teague, senior Democrat on the House Veterans Affairs Committee, fought this when he steered the Korea GI bill to passage. The Texas had headed a special House committee which investigated the World War II veterans educational program and disclosed many expensive abuses. The new act was designed to wipe out extravagance and fraud.

Teague said a group of private colleges "feel they are being discriminated against because they are not getting as many GIs under the present law as they did under the old law."

But the law was passed for the benefit of the veterans, not the colleges and universities," he said. He said in the years after World War II private colleges had a 64-36 percentage edge in enrollment over public colleges, but now the public schools have about a 53-47 margin and the private institutions "want to get back the big edge."

Huge Business Center In Philadelphia Gets Under Way Officially

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A new multimillion-dollar downtown business center gets under way officially today with groundbreaking ceremonies headed by Mayor Joseph S. Clark.

The first of several office buildings, which will comprise Penn Center, a project similar to New York's Rockefeller center, is a 15-million-dollar 20-story building of ultramodern design to be completed by early 1955.

The three-block long area, which will also include extensive landscaping, a hotel and a huge transportation center, was the former site of the old Broad Street Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The article, which covered nearly half the Communist party newspaper's foreign news page, possibly was of considerable significance.

Yet the author, D. D. Kraminov, one of Pravda's prominent correspondents who has covered United Nations sessions, set forth no proposals on how American-Soviet relations might be bettered except to claim that the United States should change its course.

The writer largely devoted his space to accusing President Eisenhower and other American leaders of making anti-Soviet attacks and conducting anti-Soviet campaigns.

"The history of relations between the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. shows that always when these countries have gone together and when friendly relations existed between them it served the interests of both peoples, served the cause of the struggle against the forces of war and destruction and served the cause of peace and progress," Kraminov wrote.

"And the opposite has been true when the United States conducted an unfriendly policy toward the Soviet Union. Then it brought nothing but harm to the American people and was used by the forces of war and internal reaction against the interests of peace and the security of the peoples."

The national planning allotment is 17,910,448 acres compared with 24,334,500 in cultivation for this year's crop last July 1.

States in the Southeast would have to take a smaller cut, averaging around 30 per cent.

The national allotment is divided among the states on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton for the years 1947, 1948, 1950, 1951, and 1952.

This means that states which have only recently increased cotton plantings—such as California, Arizona and New Mexico—are required to take a larger percentage reduction than those whose acreages have been more constant over the base period.

The state allotments will be apportioned among counties and individual farmers on the basis of a formula in farm law.

Wilson Starts Ike's Plan to Reclassify Security Information

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson has set in motion at the Pentagon President Eisenhower's order to overhaul classification of data bearing on national security.

The presidential order, among other things, dropped the "restricted" label, leaving three classifications instead of four—top secret, secret and confidential.

A directive, signed by Wilson Nov. 19 and made public yesterday, ordered immediate cancellation of the "restricted" category. But it gave classifying officers until Dec. 15 to move up a notch any "restricted" information they consider "absolutely essential" as confidential matter.

Shows Off Rare Coins Found In Buried Chest In Suwannee River

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—William F. Sneed Jr., Lakeland hotel owner, is showing off a couple of coins which he says were among thousands in a chest he recovered from under the Suwannee River Saturday.

He said he found 4,500 Spanish gold doubloons worth $100 to $150 each and 3,500 silver pieces of eight worth $50 to $80 each. At the lower value he quoted, his treasure find would be worth $625,000.

He said the chest also contained a silver cup, apparently of English origin.

He said he used electronic devices to locate the treasure under 16½ feet of water near the mouth of the Suwannee.

Cotton Crop Sharply Cut For Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cotton growing states got a taste today of the sharp reduction they may have to make next year in the production of their big cash crop.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced acreage planting allotments proposed for cotton under a rigid production control program to be submitted to growers Dec. 15. Approval by at least two thirds of the growers voting is required to set the program in motion.

Growers in Arizona, for example, would have to reduce plantings about 60 per cent from this year. Those in California would have to cut about 52 per cent and those in New Mexico about 44 per cent.

The national planting allotment is 17,910,448 acres compared with 24,334,500 in cultivation for this year's crop last July 1.

States in the Southeast would have to take a smaller cut, averaging around 30 per cent.

The national allotment is divided among the states on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton for the years 1947, 1948, 1950, 1951, and 1952.

This means that states which have only recently increased cotton plantings—such as California, Arizona and New Mexico—are required to take a larger percentage reduction than those whose acreages have been more constant over the base period.

The state allotments will be apportioned among counties and individual farmers on the basis of a formula in farm law.

String Divides Food In Refrigerator, Couple Seek Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A piece of string divides the refrigerator in the home of Kenneth L. Fisher and his wife, estranged. Their food is separated too.

Fisher, wealthy 29-year-old owner of an auto repair business, is in court trying to get full custody of their 5-year-old son. His wife Betty, 24, married twice previously, is trying to get full possession of the house.

Mrs. Fisher says she cooks her own food, but Fisher has a housekeeper to prepare his.

"I want my husband out of the house," Mrs. Fisher told a court commissioner yesterday. "and I want to fire the housekeeper."

Fisher wants custody of the child pending trial of their divorce action next March 23.

Sails Atlantic Alone, Gets Lost In NY Fog

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Ann Davison, 38, of Gloucestershire, England, who sailed across the Atlantic alone in her 23-foot sloop, landed in New York harbor last night after getting lost in the weekend fog.

Mrs. Davison came to New York from Miami, Florida, her first landing in the United States. She left England May 19, 1952, touched ports in France, Spain and Gibraltar and reached Miami last Aug. 12.

She anchored off Sandy Hook, N. J., until the fog lifted Sunday, then headed into port only to be caught when the fog settled again.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood—

Losing Money Paid Off, Tony Quinn Now Getting It Back

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Anthony Quinn might not have won last year's supporting actor Oscar if he hadn't lost a lot of money a few years ago.

Sound strange? To understand the story you have to know something about Tony's career.

He started out in the movies with contracts to Paramount and then Warners. But neither studio could quite figure out what to do with him. The guy was too versatile. He didn't fit the leading man pattern. He continued making a good living by playing character parts, but he wasn't satisfied.

"I knew I could continue with what I was doing," he remarked, "but I wasn't getting ahead in the business. I decided to learn all I could about acting."

And so he moved East with his family—he's married to Cecil B. de Mille's daughter Katherine. His first try at the legit was "Gentleman From Athens," a flop. But that didn't discourage him. Producer Irene Selznick liked him in it and offered him the Marlon Brando role in the road company of "A Streetcar Named Desire."

"I toured in that play for two years," he recalled. "After that, I did two more plays, both flops. I took a real financial beating. For two years afterward, I was paying off $500 a week to make up for what I lost."

But the investment paid off in gold, both the cashable kind and the gold-plated Academy Award (for "Viva Zapata!"). He has already made five pictures this year and is still going strong. At present he is playing a Mickey Spillane hero in "The Long Walk," his first modern dress picture in some time.

"I've had to learn the English language all over again," said Tony, who has lived here most of his life. "I've played a Mexican in the last few pictures in Hollywood. I just came back from making three in Italy. In one, I spoke English with a Sicilian accent. In another, I talked Italian. The other was 'Ulysses,' in which I had to talk with a Greek accent."

Tony has been working at a furious pace, but he seems to thrive on it.

"I wouldn't know what to do if I weren't busy," he explained. "Why, in Italy I was doing three pictures at the same time. And when I came home at night I went to work on a novel! But I never felt better. I lost my excess weight and I felt strong as a porter."

New Manager For Brooklyn Is Due Today

BROOKLYN (AP)—A mystery that would leave even Sherlock Holmes and Charlie Chan gasping for breath will be solved today when the new manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers is named.

President Walter O'Malley will "unveil" him to the press after maintaining a coy silence right up to the end.

One thing was certain, though. Whoever he is will work on a one-year contract. It was the demand for a contract of more than one year that led Charlie Dressen to part company with the Dodgers just 40 days ago.

O'Malley couldn't even be found to issue a "no statement" quote.

Vice President Buzzy Bavasi was cornered, but threw an miter light as a burned-out bulb on the situation.

"We will have a press conference at our offices," he parried. "Then and not until then will the new manager be named and presented."

Asked if it would be someone in the Brooklyn organization, Bavasi answered like a real diplomat: "It could be, and then again, perhaps not."

"He is not a person who has not been mentioned as among the possibilities."

That narrowed the field down to a mere army of present and former baseball men. The only one who really is completely eliminated is Pee Wee Reese, who was offered the job and turned it down. Reese said as late as last night that he had not changed his mind.

Another leading candidate who apparently is out of the running is Lefty O'Doul, the manager of the San Diego team of the Pacific Coast League. Lefty, an old Dodger star, was reported in Tokyo last night and if the Brooks are to introduce their new leader as Bavasi said, O'Doul is out.

By the process of elimination, the field seems to have narrowed down to someone within the organization. For one thing, there is only a one-year contract to be had. For another, it probably will be an interim job until Reese decides to quit playing and take the reins.

This reasoning would place Walter Alston, who won the Little World Series with the Montreal Royals, and Vice President Fresco

Bing Crosby and Christian Fourcade get acquainted in this warm and human scene from "Little Boy Lost." The film, concerning a father's search for the child he has never seen, is the Fox Theatre's Thanksgiving attraction. Holiday performances will be continuous.

Napoleon, Stanford Star, Joins the Army

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Stanford halfback Allen Napoleon ended the controversy over his draft status by going into the army yesterday.

Napoleon, who scored the winning touchdown in Stanford's 21-20 upset defeat of UCLA last month, reported for induction, quickly passed mental and physical tests and was sent with other draftees to Ft. Ord, Calif.

U. S. Attorney Lloyd Burke said as a result the U. S. Attorney's office in Honolulu would drop its draft evasion charge against the reserve halfback.

Thompson is the leading candidate. Thompson is an important man in the front office and would be loathe to give up his spot unless he were given a definite promise to return when Reese took over.

No Unusual Navy Plays for Army In Saturday Tilt

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy isn't going to spring any unusual plays against Army in Philadelphia Saturday, according to Coach Eddie Erdelatz.

Navy, after running up 55 points against Dartmouth and 65 against Princeton, failed off considerably in its last four games. It scored once against Penn and Notre Dame, was shut out against Duke and registered two touchdowns against Columbia.

"The same plays worked against some teams, and the blocking resulted in their failure against others," he reasoned in deciding there wasn't anything wrong with the team.

The inference was that the practice time will be spent this week in getting the plays to work. Navy has attacked from a regular T with a small amount of split-T all season.

Giel On Big 10 All-Star Team

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten coaches paid high tribute to Minnesota halfback Paul Giel today by placing him on the Associated Press All-Big Ten Football Team for the third straight year.

The 185-pound senior, a perfect double-duty performer under the new limited substitution rule, was the coaches' only unanimous choice, polling the maximum of 20 points.

In addition to Giel, who handled the ball on passes or runs 232 times for a Big Ten record, fullback Alan Ameche of Wisconsin and tackle George Jacoby of Ohio State were holdovers from 1952.

With Giel and the 205-pound Ameche in the backfield are Michigan's leading scorer and ground-gainer, 160-pound Leroy Bolden; and Illinois' J. C. Caroline, the conference's record-breaking ball carrier and the nation's leading rusher with 1,256 yards in 148 trips.

Bobo Newsom Quits Baseball After 26 Yrs.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Louis Norman (Bobo) Newsom, patriarch of the pitcher's mound, has retired from baseball after 26 years.

Newsom announced at his home yesterday that he had asked for and received his retirement from the Philadelphia Athletics through President Connie Mack.

O' Bobo, now 46 years old, started his career with Raleigh, N. C., in 1928 and joined the Brooklyn Dodgers the following season. During his long stay in the majors, he pitched for six American and three National League clubs. He was with the Washington Senators five different times.

Broken Gas Line Leaves 6,000 Homes Heatless

FARMINGTON (AP)—A gas line break left 6,000 homes and shops in a six-town area without heat over the weekend with temperatures ranging from a low of 35 degrees to the mid 50s.

A spokesman for Missouri Natural Gas Co. of Farmington, the gas distributor for the area, said about 25 per cent of its service had been restored by midnight last night, but an estimated 4,500 homes and shops still are without heat.

The spokesman, N. K. Jones, operations vice president, said the firm hopes to return to full service by early evening.

The break occurred about three miles south of Farmington in a Mississippi River Fuel Corp. line at 3:30 a. m. yesterday. There was no immediate explanation for the break.

Homes and shops, most closed for the weekend, in Farmington, Flat River, Bonne Terre, Desloge, Elvins and Exeter were affected. Many residents left their homes to keep warm. Some drove around in their cars. Others set out to visit relatives in unaffected areas.

At Bonne Terre, a two-hour electric power failure was attributed to the gas break as residents, finding their gas-heated homes cold, switched to electric heating appliances. The switch caused an overload and electric service was interrupted from 8:30 to 10:45 a. m.

Missouri Natural Gas, a distributor supplied by Mississippi River Fuel, called in 100 employees, who visited each of the firm's customers to turn off meters as a safety precaution. Jones estimated it may take until evening to reopen the meters in the remaining 4,500 homes and shops.

Missouri Natural Gas also serves Poplar Bluff, Fredericktown, Ste. Genevieve, Festus and Crystal City.

Women Saying Nice Things
About Men as Christmas Nears

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—It always used to make me uneasy when I heard a woman praise a man.
I figured the poor fellow was either already under a tombstone—or filling rapidly.
But lately—well, I just don't know. Women are saying so many nice things about men they are getting calluses on their vocal cords.
"It doesn't mean a thing except we're getting closer to Christmas," one gentleman cynic told me. "The average woman's disposition begins to improve just before Thanksgiving."
"By the first of December she is acting like a human being. By the middle of the month, as Santa Claus gets nearer and nearer, you can see a halo over her head in a dim room."
"But soon after she gets her Christmas loot, the sweetness and light vanish, and the normal bark and bite come back into her voice again. Her feeling of gratitude fades faster than a snowflake in a bonfire."
But is this really so? Isn't this our old-time merely living in the past? It is true, perhaps, that human nature never changes. But how about the nature of women? There are signs it is changing with revolutionary speed.
I choose to believe, for example, that old-fashioned chivalry and courtliness aren't dead. They merely have undergone a change of ownership.
Like everything else that is to be symbols of masculine dominance—such as money, tobacco, pants and the dry martini—chivalry has been taken over by women. They are showing more and more gallantry in their attitude toward the weaker sex, man.
What else but pure gallantry explains the recent statement by Miss Kathleen Watts, a British psychologist, that men are more intelligent than women?
She gave a series of questions and problems prepared by another lady—Dr. Alice Heim—to a mixed group of 700 British university students. The results, she says, showed boys are smarter than girls, reason better, and learn quicker through practice.
Maybe. It also could prove that a kindhearted woman scientist is able to devise a test on which the lads could get a better grade than the lassies.
For certainly today nobody seriously doubts that women can out-think and outgeneral men in any battlefield that interests them. Intelligence is not a thing you can put your finger on. It can best be described as common sense in action.
Basically, the most intelligent organism is the one that can best adjust its environment to better its own way of life and improve its chances of survival, and he woman has no peer. Where man breaks and dies under strain, woman bends and waits for better weather.
All people are a mystery to each other. But a woman can solve a man at a glance, and he can't figure her out in a lifetime. Einstein may plumb the secrets of the atom or the universe with an equation, but has he a formula to explain Cleopatra—or his wife, or your wife, or my wife?
A lady psychologist who says boys are smarter than girls merely because they can work an arithmetic problem more easily is like a farmer who kills his mule by saying, "Mule, you really got brains. Why, I couldn't pull that plow like you do, if I tried all day."
Yet it is nice to know the ladies are now so sure of their strength they can afford to pamper men with a bit of feminine gallantry. It doesn't fool us a bit—these heady compliments—and they may spoil us.
But men, as woman have known since Eve, are only grown-up babies. It is pleasant after all these centuries to see them sugar the milk of human kindness with a little flattery for the male animal.
Next thing you know women may even start doing their fair share of pushing in a revolving door.

TRIPLE VACCINATION against
• Blackleg
• Malignant Edema and
• Hemorrhagic Septicemia (Shipping Fever)
While not exactly new, this triple vaccine is becoming better known and more widely used. Quite often we are asked about it.
At this time of the year it is certainly recommended with all the changeable weather on its way to us, the Hemorrhagic Septicemia part is certainly indicated and as long as you are vaccinating anyway against Blackleg... it is quite a convenience to give all three at one dose. I failed to mention that Blackleg and Malignant Edema are very closely related and for a number of years have been combined in a vaccine. It should be understood that Hemorrhagic Septicemia (Shipping Fever) could be caused by any one of several strains of bacteria (the vaccine is not as specific as Blackleg) and also, the immunity is not as long lasting.
We are selling the triple vaccine at 24c per dose in 5-dose bottles. These diseases are most prevalent in six months to 2 year old cattle but might occur in younger or older cattle.
